Everything has changed for all of us. The road ahead isn't clear, but together we can find our way. Imagine if we can rebuild even better than before, leave behind work as we knew it, and create a new world of work. Let's ask new questions and learn from each other, forget the old mindsets that held us back. Let's include everyone's perspective, creativity, and skills, create better, more human workplaces. Let's rethink talent, reset how we hire, and reimagine what work can be. Let's rebuild work.

We can start here. Introducing Lead with Indeed, where employers can find the resources, insights, and tools needed to navigate this new world of work, a place to learn from experts and each other. While no one knows what tomorrow will bring, we can start making work better today. Join us.
